LEAD-IN: *I lift up my eyes to you,
to you whose throne is in heaven.
As the eyes of slaves look to the hand of their master,
as the eyes of a maid look to the hand of her mistress,
so our eyes look to the Lord our God,
till he shows us his mercy. (Psalm 123:1-2, NIV)*

LEAD-IN DEVOTIONAL READING:

Secure

We go our own way.
We make our own plans
 for our own reasons,
 pursuing our own goals.
Then we build walls,
 protecting ourselves from every interference.
We are secure.
We are self-sufficient.
We can handle whatever comes.

But the unforeseen happens—
 it always does—
and we discover that no walls can keep out the evil that floods this world.
No matter how strong we are,
 we are vulnerable.
No matter how watchful we are,
 we are insecure.
We cannot control the reality that engulfs us.

But when our false security is stripped away,
we can rediscover the security on which creation itself rests—
 the security that keeps the days and seasons revolving,
 untouched and unthreatened by human hatred or pride.
We can rediscover that no matter what knowledge we accumulate,
 God is our only wisdom.
No matter much power we try to harness,
 God is sovereign.

He is love, and
we are His children.
That is the only security we will ever have and the only security we will ever need.
