

Celebrate Your Resurrection

The resurrection accounts in each of the four gospels make two facts clear:

1. Jesus rose on the first day of a new week.
2. He rose at the very crack of dawn.

Jesus' resurrection marked a new beginning:

a new day,
a new week, and
a whole new era.

In a sense, Easter sunrise was the dawning of a new creation,
as if God was speaking again into our

formlessness,
emptiness,
death, and
darkness,

commanding,

“Let there be light!”

Each morning God's glory dawns over creation,
just as at creation itself.

Each morning God's glory dawns
as at that resurrection sunrise.

If you trust in Christ,
eternal day has already dawned within you.

Not even death itself will interrupt your life in Him.

Your eternal “now” in Him has already begun.

Let each morning remind you of all that is yours

in Him.
