

Reflection on Psalm 126

Remember!

When difficulties come,
remember what He has done for you.
For as you do, you are remembering who He is.

He is unchanging perfection.
He is still the same as when He pursued you in your lostness,
drew you from your darkness to Himself,
forgave you, and
began remaking you to be just like His glorious Son, Jesus.
He is still that magnificent Savior.
He is still that same Deliverer who graciously provided for you in
that financial need,
that illness,
that relationship.
The very same.

Trust Him.
He may answer suddenly,
in a flash flood of power and love.
He may answer slowly, gradually,
in a long and gentle rain.
Or like a farmer,
you may have to wait for the harvest,
patiently working,
patiently waiting.

But know that He will deliver you
beautifully,
completely, in
His perfect way and
His perfect time.
That's what He does.
That's who He is.
