

Reflection on Psalm 10

O Father, I am immersed in a world that is evil,
greedy, and
violent.

So sometimes when I need You the most,
You feel so far away.

For the wicked prowl all around like lions,
lurking,
crouching,
hiding themselves behind their smiles and their lies.

They hunger to make a meal of the weakest and most vulnerable.

Evil and anger are not distasteful to them.

They savor them like
tasty morsels.

And You?

They assume you don't exist or don't know or don't care.

All that You value –
love and
compassion,
truth and
justice –

are too high for them.

They never cross their minds.

So Father, may You and Your goodness,
Your glory and
Your perfection

fill our vision every day

Keep us

looking to You,

trusting You, and rejoicing in You.

O Lord,
our Lord,
we pray,
come soon!
