

The Resurrection of Lazarus

Almighty Father, You turn tragedies into blessings as we trust You.

In the resurrection of Lazarus,
the Word of God,
spoken through human lips,
pierced the impenetrable distance and darkness of death.
Imagine!
That Word sent new life pulsing through a dead body.

The resurrection of Lazarus is proof that resurrection life is not a distant dream,
not a theoretical idea,
but a present reality.

Jesus Christ is Himself the resurrection and the life (John 11:25-26, NASB), and He is with us,
right here, right now.
As we simply trust Him, He fills us with His almighty, unconquerable, everlasting life.

The oneness, the fellowship, the living union
You are now sharing with God will never end.

Your eternal life with Him has already begun.

That living, moment-by-moment bond that is already so precious will never be broken.

You are experiencing it now, and it will grow and grow as You trust Him.

Physical death will not separate you from Him.
Through death, your union with God will bloom into glorious perfection.
