

Ask Your Father

Luke 11:5-13

My all-wise,
almighty,
all-loving

Father,
help me bring all my concerns to You with plain, simple words and a childlike faith.

You never sleep,
You are never inconvenienced, and
Your supply is endless.

No request is too big for Your power or too small for Your love.

Help me to bring them all.

But at the same time, gradually reshape my heart to ask more wisely and seek the better gifts.

Teach me to pray as Your human Son prayed,
focused on You,
wanting only Your glory,
trusting You simply and completely.

Trusting You means wanting what You want.

You want me to come with all my needs,
but You also want our relationship to grow.

Reshape my desires and concerns that I might want to know You more,
share Your heart,
live Your love, and
breathe Your Spirit,
the Spirit of Your holy, beautiful Son, Jesus.

This is what I really want.

This is what I really need.
